

1. What went well with this assignment?

The implementation of CPU and GPU methods allowed clear performance comparisons, and the GPU methods demonstrated significant improvements in runtime for large datasets.

2. What was difficult?

Managing memory efficiently on the GPU, especially for larger array sizes and ensuring optimizations like reducing thread divergence, was challenging.

3. How would you approach differently?

Start with simpler GPU implementations before adding optimizations like reducing thread divergence.